DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 17-20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 12-27-06.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-4, 6-7, 12, 16 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "arbitrary" is considered vague and indefinite in claims 16 and 22.

The term "thin type" in claim 12 is also considered vague and indefinite

The term "fine" is considered vague and indefinite per se.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Japanese patent publication 2000-309802 ('802) in view of Japanese patent publication 2001-295071 ('071).

Publication '802 discloses a method for producing a corrosion-resistant rare earth metal-based permanent magnet, characterized in that it comprises providing an aqueous treating fluid, which contains a hydrolysis polymerization product of alkyl silicate and fine zinc particles having a pH value as claimed.

Publication '802 does not disclose:

Average particle diameter claimed;

Wt % of total content.

Publication '071 discloses particle diameters (see abstract) and wt% of total content (para 0009).

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to include average particle diameter claimed and wt % of total content because both '071 and '802 teach oxidation treatment of metal with zinc.

Art Unit: 1762

6. Claims 8-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over publication '802 in view of publication '071 as applied to claims above, and further in view of Walrath and Japanese Patent 01-197385 ('385).

Claims 21-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walrath and Japanese Patent 01-197385 ('385).

Publications '802 and '071 do not disclose the recitations of claims 8-15.

Walrath discloses a dip spin coating method and Japanese Patent 01-197385 ('385) discloses dip and rotational movement of a work holder into a coating solution of a work holder as claimed by applicant.

It would have been obvious to use a dip spin coating method for the purposes of even coating, and the particular work holder because one with ordinary skill in the art would utilize a specific work holder desired to maximize coating efficiency.

Double Patenting

7. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 1762

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

8. Claim 1 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,399,150 in view of Japanese patent publication 2000-309802 ('802).

Patent 6,399,150 does not claim the aqueous treating fluid now claimed by applicant.

It would have been obvious to one with ordinary skill in the art to claim what is now claimed because the '802 publication teaches improvements for rare earth magnetic powders.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
